Media Information 2022

Automation, digitization and carbon footprint limits are clearly the megatrends that will be challenging and changing the transport industry now and in the future.

Manufacturers of light and heavy commercial vehicles as well as buses are facing these megatrends with different strategies. Technical solutions, however, are complex and require explanation: the disruption of traffic and trade paves the way for new market players and thus increases the variety and efficiency of suppliers regarding transport solutions. Simultaneously, there are further opportunities for investments that fleets have to be aware of.

In this segment the special interest magazine lastauto omnibus reports on and gives critical insights and, at the same time, balances independence with journalistic professionalism. The centre of attention, however, will continue to be on testing and reporting. Decision-makers of the commercial vehicle industry and bus fleets have an overall view in a complex market and are thus able to benefit from innovations. Engineers, technicians, teachers and students will be able to widen their knowledge. This is why lastauto omnibus will continue to be the reliable and indispensable guide for car purchasers as well as commercial vehicle professionals while entertaining technology enthusiasts.

lastauto omnibus is the exclusive German partner for the „International Truck of the Year“.
